

Domestic Violence Is a Global Concern

Home

Different cultural approaches expressed through posters.

StoriesWork offers a display of international poster artworks that speak out against domestic violence and for the value of equitable and peaceful family relationships. They are part of a poster collection gathered by the United Nations.

The prints are mounted in groups on laminated panels, and have been shown at numerous StoriesWork events. Viewers are moved by the eloquent messages portrayed in the different styles and languages.

The 6 large display panels (30" x 40," easily wall-mounted) and a poster that translates the non-English text are available for rent. You can share the impact of these important messages with audiences at your events. To rent the display, contact us at info@storieswork.org or phone 919-321-8969 for details.

Above, a child speaks about the situation in his home. To the left, an Argentinian poster reminds women that a life without violence is their right

